

Loretta Cody, MD

Board-Certified Pediatrician & Child Health Expert

Loretta Cody, MD, is a Board-Certified Pediatrician with over three decades of experience assessing, diagnosing, and treating children. She has provided compassionate care to her patients and empowered parents in matters related to their child's health and well-being from infancy through young adulthood.

With a keen interest in math and science, Dr. Cody was destined for a career in medicine. Her love of children, coupled with her warm and engaging personality, led her to the field of pediatrics. After graduating from Barnard College with a Bachelor of Arts in Chemistry, she attended New York Medical College and received her Doctor of Medicine. She completed her pediatric residency at Yale New Haven Hospital and joined Children's Medical Group in Greenwich, CT.

Dr. Cody is also the recipient of several "Top Doctor" honors by Castle Connolly, 2016-2021, as well as "Exceptional Women in Medicine" in 2017, 2020, and 2021, and Vitals.com's "Patients' Choice Award" in 2014 and 2016.

Dedicated to teaching and mentoring medical students and other aspiring healthcare professionals on pediatric topics and career options, Dr. Cody recently joined the faculty of Sacred Heart University in Connecticut as an adjunct instructor, leading a clinical course in pediatrics for their Physician Assistant Studies program, considered one of the country's top programs in 2022.

Dr. Cody has volunteered at the Make-A-Wish Foundation, the Hamilton Avenue Free Clinic (CT), and Circle of Care (CT). She has also been a guest speaker on health-related topics at several public and private high schools in southern Connecticut.

Media-wise, Dr. Cody has contributed to or been featured in several recent articles on children's health and safety in Forbes, Verywell Family, Insider, Mom Junction, and The Bump. She also maintains a Health News section on her website, highlighting topical children's health issues and advice. In addition, she plans to launch a YouTube channel covering children's health and well-being and addressing viewer questions.

As a mother of two sons, one pursuing a career in medicine, Dr. Cody brings the perspective of both parent and physician to her work with patients, parents, and medical students.
